

Abstract

In a method of fabricating an optical fiber comprising a silica-based glassy material deuterium is injected in a fiber drawing device. Defect centers generated during the fiber drawing are occupied by deuterium atoms.